

Prof. Forced to Undergo Psych Evaluation After 2nd Amendment Rant

Last week, Campus Reform shared the story of Kevin Allred, an adjunct professor at Rutgers University who was asked to undergo a psychological evaluation after he raised the prospect of shooting white people to make a point on gun control.

“Will the Second Amendment be as cool when I buy a gun and start shooting at random white people or no?” he reportedly tweeted.

Allred had his Twitter account suspended, Campus reform reported, and was escorted to a nearby police station to undergo psychological evaluation. He was released on his own recognizance.

Most people would take such an experience as a sign that perhaps he should get off social media for a while. Allred is not most people.

After blaming his suspension on “Trump’s crackdown on free speech,” Allred on Sunday began calling out Rutgers University and the person he believed was responsible for the humiliation he suffered.

Allred identified Nikol Alexander-Floyd, an associate professor of Women’s and Gender Studies, as the person who allegedly has a vendetta against him. In a move right out of Donald Trump’s playbook, he even posted her university email address to his 7,300 followers.

what's happening to me now is not unrelated. follow the dots. trace it all. i'm not "allowed" to say much more, but it's plain to see.

– Kevin Allred (@KevinAllred) November 21, 2016

& i can't even say more because she's a child and refuses to speak to me in any constructive way and communicate what those issues might be

– Kevin Allred (@KevinAllred) November 21, 2016

Rutgers wants me to bite my tongue and not share the shit going down behind the scenes. The shit I KNOW from years back. huh. ok.

– Kevin Allred (@KevinAllred) November 22, 2016

i'm an adjunct instructor @ Rutgers & i literally have nothing left to lose in exposing all the bananas shit that goes on behind the scenes.

– Kevin Allred (@KevinAllred) November 22, 2016

why don't Universities value transparency? Why don't they want ppl to know what's going on? MAYBE BC THEY'VE GOT FUCKED UP POLITICS AS WELL?

– Kevin Allred (@KevinAllred) November 22, 2016

and i know that Nikol monitors my twitter feed religiously, so: pic.twitter.com/mhFGwSPIiE

– Kevin Allred (@KevinAllred) November 22, 2016

and i'm an adjunct and have no power but Nikol is the one that has consistently torn apart my Politicizing Beyoncé class & tried to cancel it

– Kevin Allred (@KevinAllred) November 22, 2016

As a point of reference, Allred apparently has a book coming out on Beyonce soon. Beyond that, I'm not sure what any of this means, except that I'm not sending my children to Rutgers.

[Editor's Note: It appears Allred deleted the tweets about Nikol Alexander-Floyd. We've provided a screen shot below.]

—

Jon Miltimore is senior editor of Intellectual Takeout. Follow him on Facebook.

Image Credit: [@KevinAllred]